PETER ROWLAND

National Gallery of Victoria (NGV) is one of Melbourne’s finest cultural institutions. Just a few minutes walk from the CBD, the collection comprises of over 39,000 works of art which reflect many styles and inspirations.

As a function space it truly is unique. The Great Hall is a large capacity function area famous for its high ceiling which showcases a stunning stained glass design.

Persimmon is equally impressive. Bathed in natural light by large glass windows, the restaurant overlooks the Grollo Equiset Garden, home to some of the Gallery’s most impressive sculptures.

For evening events, lighting design that complements the garden’s collection of art works is available. Functions and events can be held in Federation Court, inside the main entrance next to the Waterwall, or Level One in the decadent surrounds of the Tea Room.

Private viewings of the NGV collection can be arranged to immerse your guests in the rich Gallery experience.
